

The Herald and News

K. H. AULI, Editor.

Clemson College opened a few days ago with over 500 students enrolled.

The Republican party in Alabama and North Carolina have thrown the negroes overboard.

A complete list of the next legislature, published in this paper, shows that there will be seventy-six new members in the next house of representatives.

The editor of this paper appreciates the many kind things said of him by his brother editors throughout the State through their respective papers, on his recent election to a seat in the general assembly.

Four States have recently held Democratic conventions and adopted platforms. The indications now are that trusts and tariff will occupy considerable attention in the next presidential race.

It has been suggested that President Pell, of Converse College, and President Mell, of Clemson, take the boys and girls of these institutions pell-mell to the State fair in October. A happy thought is this.

Hon. J. M. Griggs, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, of Georgia, has just visited the New England States and says that from information gained on his trip, he feels safe in predicting that the Democrats will have a majority in the next house.

In the recent primaries four members of the "Fourth Estate" were elected to seats in the general assembly, namely: Hon. Jno. B. Towill, editor of the Batesburg Advocate; Dr. J. C. Mace, editor of the Marion Star; Capt. J. Walter Doar, editor of the Georgetown Outlook, and the editor of The Herald and News.

Mr. W. R. Hearst, who has been such an ardent champion for Democracy through his papers, the New York Journal and American, is working to secure the Democratic nomination for Governor of New York. We doubt seriously if this championship in the past will prove sufficient to give him the nomination.

A Card from Mr. Aiken.

Mr. Editor: Permit me through the columns of your paper to express to the voters of the Third Congressional District my sincere thanks and gratitude for the uniform kindness and generous support extended me in my recent race for Congress.

While, as a matter of course, to those who stood so faithfully by me and gave to me that substantial aid without which I could not have been nominated I owe the greater debt of gratitude, for those who gave their support to some one of my competitors I have nothing but the kindest feeling, for while doing all they could for the man of their choice, they invariably treated me with the greatest kindness and respect.

I am proud and delighted to be able to say that as between my competitors and myself there existed at all times during the campaign, and still exists, nothing but the most fraternal feeling, which I trust shall always be the case.

To be the nominee of the Democratic party of the historic old Third District for a seat in the Congress of these United States, is indeed an honor which I highly prize, and for which I am truly grateful, but when I consider that I was the choice in preference to some one or other of the distinguished gentlemen who were my competitors, it makes it, if possible, all the more to be appreciated.

Appreciating then as I do, this high and responsible trust reposed in me by the voters of this Congressional District, it shall be my effort, so far as the power in me lies, to meet to the fullest extent, in my course as their representative in Congress, their highest hopes and expectations.

Very respectfully,
Wyatt Aiken.

FLOUR WANTED.

Who Will Contribute a Mile to This Worthy Charity?

Almost every body wants flour. It can be had for the money; but if one has not the money, how can it be paid for.

Your two hundred orphans at the Thornwell orphanage need the flour to make bread of, but they have neither the silver nor the gold to pay for it.

The little town of Clinton, in which the orphanage is situated, will head the subscription list with five of the two hundred and fifty barrels needed. Pastors, deacons, kind ladies cannot your church, your town do something toward swelling the subscription.

Let each strong church send us ten barrels, and the weak ones, seven, five, three, two barrels or even one. Let us supply our orphan children with flour and that at once. They will make bread of it.

Send to the Thornwell orphanage, Clinton, S. C.

Ask your railway for free transportation.

The premiums offered this year at the State Fair have been greatly increased and competition will be sharp. Be sure to get a premium list at once.

MR. WOODS DECLINES FLATTERING OFFER.

State: Why Mr. Woods Accept S. C. College Presidency—Does Not Think That He Is Fitted to Occupy the Exalted Position—His Letter.

[The State, 18th.]

Hon. A. C. Woods of Marion has declined to accept the presidency of the South Carolina college recently tendered him in so flattering a manner. This announcement will be received by friends of the institution throughout South Carolina. The very ground that Mr. Woods takes for declining the offer shows that the State is a loser in failing to secure such a man as the head of one of her most famous institutions.

On Tuesday the committee from the board of trustees consisting of Mr. McMahan and Mr. MacFarland went to Marion and waited upon Mr. Woods. Mr. McMahan returned to the city yesterday bringing with him Mr. Woods' declination, a copy of which was not available until afternoon. The committee talked over the matter fully with Mr. Woods and was earnest in its endeavor to persuade him, but he stood on high ground, and could not be moved. Here is the letter of declination:

Marion, S. C., Sept. 16, 1902.
Hon. Miles B. McSweeney, Governor, Chairman, and Gentlemen of the Board of Trustees of the South Carolina College:

The great honor you have conferred in electing me to the presidency of the South Carolina college has touched me deeply, and it is quite impossible for me to express my profound appreciation. It is a post of duty that has been held by the most illustrious men, and around it cluster the noble traditions of the past and the bright hopes of the future. Surely I never could have thought of myself in connection with the office, but your deliberate judgment, reinforced, as it has been, by generous expressions of approval from other citizens, whose opinions are entitled to great consideration, has given me much concern lest I should fail to see my duty clearly. To the right man there is no station in the State of greater opportunity of usefulness, and none where successful effort could bring more joy.

I have tried to think you are right in regarding me equal to this opportunity, but then after the most careful consideration of the earnest and strong presentation of your views by your distinguished committee I cannot bring myself to the conviction that I could reasonably expect to win success. I am untrained in educational matters, and without that insight and acquaintance with the science of education requisite for the position. The labor of my life has been in another field, and I am unable to resist the conclusion that to make this change now would be at too great peril to the college.

The confidence expressed by your board I earnestly trust will stimulate me to strive for the greater usefulness as a citizen.

Very sincerely,
C. A. Woods.

It is not yet known what will now be done as to the vacancy. The board will meet again next week to discuss the problem again. It is thought likely that Prof. Sloan, who is now acting president, will be asked to continue in that capacity through the collegiate year. In the mean time everything is being gotten in readiness for the opening of the institution.

"Clifton" flour always satisfies because it is always kept right up to the standard—the highest standard of purity and excellence.

"Clifton" possesses every quality essential for making bread that is white, light and sweet. The right flour so seldom found in the bread made from ordinary flour—that delicious pure wheat flour—is always found in the bread made from "Clifton," which is no ordinary flour, as most people know, "Clifton" flour is milled from the pick of the finest wheat grown; milled scientifically, with the best of skill and machinery in every detail of its manufacture.

"Clifton" is easily a leader, and is standing the test of thousands of families. If you do not use "Clifton" have your grocery to send you a sack. The satisfaction experienced by our many customers is assured.

An Innes Festival.

The Innes festivals have become a "standard" attraction throughout the country, and the yearly visits of the popular leader and his half hundred players are looked forward to by all, with constantly increasing interest. Soloists of national reputation have always accompanied the Band and this season will be no exception to the rule. The high artistic standard by Innes in program-making will be maintained, but it is announced that the popular music of the day will be represented rather more than heretofore has been the case in an Innes Festival.

Brain-Food Nonsense

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get this reliable remedy at is full of dangers particularly for the children, who not knowing the result of eating unripe fruit, indulge themselves, with the usual griping pains in the stomach as a consequence, mothers should have on hand at all times a bottle of Painkiller (Perry Davis) which will at once relieve the sufferer; it is a safe, simple remedy and it should be kept in every house. Large bottles 25 and 50 cents.
